

COPY FOR TECHNICALLY SPEAKING PODCAST

My Top Suggestions (also below with additional variations)

Intro:

Hey everybody, and welcome to another episode of Technically Speaking, the podcast where BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists share stories about their triumphs, careers, and the “whys” behind their decisions. It takes resilience to make it in UX, so we’re here to have frank conversations, build a community, and uncover actionable insights that will help you accomplish your goals. I am your host, Harrison Wheeler. We’ve got a great guest this week, but before I introduce them, I wanted to highlight [a couple of really exciting opportunities and events we have coming up. On [DATE], we’re having a meetup in [CITY], which is a great opportunity to meet other designers, and our monthly office hours are coming up on [DATE]. Head over to technicallyspeakinghw.com for more information. You can also support the Technically Speaking podcast and community by becoming a Patron, where you’ll get early access to episodes, exclusive swag, and shout-outs on the show. So if you’re not already signed up, visit patreon.com/technicallyspeakinghw]. And for those of you who are already subscribed, thank you so much for your support. It really does go right back into the show and the community. So let’s get to the show. Today, I’m sitting down with [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION], [GUEST NAME]. [GUEST NAME], thank you so much for being here. How are you?

Outro:

I want to thank [GUEST] again for coming on, what a great conversation. And thank you so much for listening. Don’t forget to rate and review on Apple Podcasts. That’s a huge way to show your support, it really helps us reach more people and grow our community. We had a few five-star reviews this week, so special thanks to [REVIEWER(S)], who wrote [REVIEWS]. If you’re interested in joining our community, where we have meetups, monthly office hours, chats, resources, and more, visit technicallyspeakinghw.com. We release new episodes every two weeks, but in the meantime, you can follow us on Instagram, LinkedIn, or YouTube at TechnicallySpeakingHW. Thank you so much, have a great two weeks, I’ll see you next time.

Community Ad:

At Technically Speaking, we’re not just having enlightening discussions with designers and technologists, we’re building a community around all things UX and product design to help you achieve your goals. Sign up for free on technicallyspeakinghw.com to access monthly office hours, peer reviews, meetups around the country, a glossary of over 150 Digital Design Terms, and more. From aspiring designers to seasoned vets, join me in discovering the power of connections and community.

Patreon Ad:

Here at Technically Speaking, we're building a community. From meetups to resources, we want to create a space for everyone from aspiring designers to seasoned vets to find connections and work toward their goals. To do this, we need your help. For as low as $3 per month, you can become a Patron, contributing to meetups and production costs of the podcast while unlocking exclusive swag and early access to episodes. Learn more or sign up now at patreon.com/technicallyspeakinghw.

See additional drafts and variations below.

Show Intro

Up to 30 seconds

Hello everyone and welcome to another episode of Technically Speaking, the podcast where BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists share their unique stories of triumph and resilience. I am Harrison Wheeler, and I am here to help you accomplish your goals, no matter how big or small they may be. So to do that, today we are sitting down with [GUEST NAME] [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION]. [GUEST NAME], welcome to the show! How are you doing today?

Run time: approx. 25 - 30 seconds

This is Technically Speaking, where we sit down with BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists to discuss their careers, their resilience, and their “why.” I am Harrison Wheeler, and I hope you are all having a wonderful day. Today, I am sitting down with a very [ADJECTIVE ABOUT GUEST] [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION], [GUEST NAME]. [GUEST NAME], thanks so much for being here. How are you?

Run time: approx. 15 - 20 seconds

Hello everyone, welcome to another episode of Technically Speaking. I am your host, Harrison Wheeler, and I am here to sit down with BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists to discuss their careers, hear their stories of triumph and resilience, and discover actionable insights that help you accomplish your own goals. Today, I am talking to [ADJECTIVE ABOUT GUEST] [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION], [GUEST NAME]. [GUEST NAME], thanks so much for being here. How are you?

Run time: approx. 25 - 30 seconds

Up to 45 seconds

Conversational:

Hello everyone, welcome to another episode of Technically Speaking. I am Harrison Wheeler, and I’m sitting down with BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists. We’re discussing their careers, their lives, their triumphs, their resilience, and the “why” behind their decisions. And we’re also building a community and providing you with actionable insights you can take to accomplish your goals, however big or small they may be. Today, I am so excited, because we are sitting down with a [ADJECTIVE ABOUT GUEST] [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION], [GUEST NAME]. [GUEST NAME], thanks so much for being here. How are you?

Run time: approx. 37 - 45 seconds

Up to 1 minute

Hello everyone, this is Technically Speaking, where BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists share the stories of triumph and resilience behind their lives and careers. I am your host, Harrison Wheeler, and I am so excited because today, we're sitting down with [GUEST NAME], a [GUEST CAREER]. Before we get into it, I just want to take a moment to thank you all for listening. One of the things you all have helped me realize is the power of connections and community. So here at Technically Speaking, we're building that community. We're doing meetups around the country, we've got monthly office hours, we have resources like a glossary of digital design terms, and we welcome everyone from aspiring designers to seasoned vets. I want to help you achieve your goals. To learn more, head over to technicallyspeakinghw.com. And for those of you who are already members or Patreon and Substack subscribers, I am so grateful for your support. So let's get started. [GUEST NAME], welcome to the show. How are you?

Run time: approx. 50 - 60 seconds

Hey everybody, and welcome to another episode of Technically Speaking, the podcast where BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists share stories about their triumphs, careers, and the "whys" behind their decisions. It takes resilience to make it in UX, so we're here to have frank conversations, build a community, and uncover actionable insights that will help you accomplish your goals. I am your host, Harrison Wheeler. We've got a great guest this week, but before I introduce them, I wanted to highlight [a couple of really exciting opportunities and events we have coming up. On [DATE], we're having a meetup in [CITY], which is a great opportunity to meet other designers, and our monthly office hours are coming up on [DATE]. These events and so much more—resources, early access to episodes, discounts on merch—are exclusive to community members and Patrons, so if you're not already signed up, visit patreon.com/technicallyspeakinghw or technicallyspeakinghw.com]. And for those of you who are already subscribed, thank you so much for your support. It really does go right back into the show and the community. So let's get to the show. Today, I'm sitting down with [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION], [GUEST NAME]. [GUEST NAME], thank you so much for being here. How are you?

Run time: approx. 60 - 70 seconds

Doubles as Ad

I'm Harrison Wheeler, the host of Technically Speaking, the bi-weekly podcast where I sit down with BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists to discuss their careers, hear their stories of triumph and resilience, and discover actionable insights that help you accomplish your own goals. We're also building a community surrounding all things UX and product design. We're doing meetups around the country, we've got monthly office hours, we have resources like a glossary of digital design terms, and we welcome everyone from aspiring designers to seasoned vets. Learn more at technicallyspeakinghw.com.

Throw to Ad

Hello everyone, welcome to another episode of Technically Speaking. I am Harrison Wheeler, and I'm sitting down with BIPOC designers, entrepreneurs, and technologists. We're discussing their careers, their lives, their triumphs, their resilience, and the "why" behind their decisions. And we're also building a community and providing you with actionable insights you can take to accomplish your goals, however big or small they may be. That's why I'd like to thank this week's sponsor, [AD]. I am so excited, because today, I am talking to a [ADJECTIVE ABOUT GUEST] [GUEST CAREER DESCRIPTION], [GUEST NAME]. [GUEST NAME], thanks so much for being here. How are you?

Show Outro

Rate & Review

[Thanks so much for coming on.] That's our show, thank you so much for listening. And I want to thank [GUEST] again for such a great conversation, I mean, what [incredible insight and advice]. If you got as much out of that as I did, please leave us a review on Apple Podcasts. Thank you so much to [REVIEWER USERNAME] for this one: [REVIEW]. So please, give us a quick review, even just a rating goes a long way to help us reach more people and expand our community. We release new episodes every two weeks, and we always shout out reviews, so stay tuned and I'll see you next time.

Run time: Appx. 25+ seconds depending on review(s)

I want to thank [GUEST] again for coming on. And I want to thank you all for listening or watching. Don't forget to leave us a rating and review on Apple Podcasts, it means a lot and helps us reach more people and grow our community. We always shout out reviews at the end of the show or online, so special thanks to [REVIEWER USERNAME], who said [REVIEW]. Thanks again for listening, and stay tuned for our next episode.

Run time: Appx. 25+ seconds depending on review(s)

Socials

I want to thank [GUEST] again for such a great conversation. I hope you got as much out of that as I did, just some really great insight and advice. We release new episodes every two weeks, and you can follow us at our website, technicallyspeakinghw.com, or on Instagram, LinkedIn, or YouTube at TechnicallySpeakingHW. Thank you so much for listening.

Run time: Appx. 20 seconds

I want to thank [GUEST] again for coming on, and thank you so much for listening. We release new episodes every two weeks, and you can follow us at our website, technicallyspeakinghw.com, or on Instagram, LinkedIn, or YouTube at TechnicallySpeakingHW. Thanks so much, I'll see you next time.

Run time: Appx. 20 seconds

Both

I want to thank [GUEST] again for coming on, what a great conversation. And thank you so much for listening. Don't forget to rate and review on Apple Podcasts. That's a huge way to show your support, it really helps us reach more people and grow our community. We had a few five-star reviews this week, so special thanks to [REVIEWER(S)], who wrote [REVIEWS]. If you're interested in joining our community, where we have meetups, monthly office hours, chats, resources, and more, visit technicallyspeakinghw.com. We release new episodes every two weeks, but in the meantime, you can follow us on Instagram, LinkedIn, or YouTube at TechnicallySpeakingHW. Thank you so much, have a great two weeks, I'll see you next time.

Run time: Appx. 45+ seconds depending on review(s)

Community Ad

At Technically Speaking, we're not just having enlightening discussions with designers and technologists, we're building a community around all things UX and product design to help you achieve your goals. Sign up for free on technicallyspeakinghw.com to access monthly office hours, peer reviews, meetups around the country, a glossary of over 150 Digital Design Terms, and more. From aspiring designers to seasoned vets, join me in discovering the power of connections and community.

Run time: Appx. 25 - 30 seconds

Patreon Ad

30 Second Variation

Here at Technically Speaking, we're building a community. From meetups to resources, we want to create a space for everyone from aspiring designers to seasoned vets to find connections and work toward their goals. To do this, we need your help. For as low as $3 per month, you can become a Patron, contributing to meetups and production costs of the podcast while unlocking exclusive swag and early access to episodes. Learn more or sign up now at patreon.com/technicallyspeakinghw.

Run time: Appx. 25 - 30 seconds

60 Second Variation

Technically Speaking is more than a podcast, it's a community. We host meetups across the country, hold monthly office hours and peer reviews, and provide free resources like a glossary of digital design terms. You can support this community and get exclusive, early access by becoming a Patron. For just $3 per month, you'll get 10% off of merch, private community access, and a shout-out. Or, for $7 per month, you can get all that plus ad-free videos, early access to episodes, and an exclusive sticker. For $35 per month—the Founding Patron tier—you'll get early access to episodes, ad-free videos, a Patron shout-out, 20% off all merch, and private community access. Your contributions go directly back into the podcast and community, helping support production costs and funding community meetups. Learn more or sign up now at patreon.com/technicallyspeakinghw.

Run time: Appx. 50 - 60 seconds

Patreon Thanks

Written or Simpler Verbal Version

Thank you for subscribing to the Technically Speaking Patreon. Your support helps us build our community and make the podcast the best it can be.

Verbal Version

I just want to take a moment to thank you all for subscribing to the Technically Speaking Patreon. Your support means a lot to me and your contributions really do go directly back into the work we're doing here: enabling us to produce the podcast, build the community, share all these great stories and pieces of advice, and help you learn, grow, and achieve your goals. Thank you all very much, we couldn't do it without you.

General Podcast Option (Thanks with subtle plug for those not yet subscribed.)

I just want to take a moment to thank all of our Patreon Patrons, your support means so much to me and really enables us to make this podcast and build our community. Thank you all very much. And the Patreon is also there to help you, so visit patreon.com/technicallyspeakinghw to make sure you're taking full advantage of all of those perks.